

A NEW PARASITE OF THE DOMESTIC FOWL.--Last month Charles Euler, one of my students, brought in a peculiar mallophagid which he had found on a domestic fowl in Boulder. I turned to Professor Kellogg's papers, expecting readily to determine it, but could not make it agree with anything from Gallus, and so sent it to Professor Kellogg himself. He kindly informs me that it is Lepeurus docophoroides Piaget, which was discovered by Piaget on California partridges, Callipepla californica, in the Zoological Garden of Rotterdam. Professor Kellogg has taken it on the same bird, wild, in California; but it has not hitherto been reported from any domestic gallinaceous bird.--T. D. A. Cockerell.
